

One Step Ahead: My Life Work in the World's Equatorial Zones During the Momentous Changes of The 20th Century AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY

By Lawrence A. Beery Jr.

AUTHORHOUSE, United States, 2004. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 279 x 198 mm. Language: English Brand New Book  Print on Demand .1.This is a 20th century adventure of an optimist who early on knew what he wanted and for whom things seemed to fall in place. 2.Lawrence A. Beery Jr. received his Masters degree in agricultural sciences from Ohio State University in 1937, landed his dream job with Goodyear Rubber Plantations assigned as Director of Plant Research in Sumatra, narrowly escaped the Japanese invasion, went on to work for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, then USAID in Central and South America, and Africa 3.Spans the years of one man's working life from the Depression-era to the end of the 20th century. A must read for those who want a detailed account of US interests throughout the underdeveloped nations during that period. Erica Kinsey, author of A GRIEF WELL ENDED 4.Lawrence A. Beery has written an autobiography reflecting on his participation in development programs in the equatorial regions around the globe. Working for private enterprise and U.S. Government agencies, he had an opportunity to meet and influence leaders of emerging countries to expand the opportunities for their people and...

READ ONLINE
[6.26 MB]

Reviews

Extremely helpful for all class of people. We have read through and that i am confident that i am going to going to read through again again down the road. Its been designed in an exceedingly basic way in fact it is simply following i finished reading this pdf in which in fact altered me, alter the way i think.

-- Noel Stanton

Absolutely one of the best pdf We have ever read. I really could comprehended every little thing using this written e book. I am easily could get a satisfaction of reading a written publication.

-- Dr. Odie Hamill