You can kick a good butler from behind and not a shade of emotion will pass over his face. G, It is much the same with the priest--he is supposed to reveal pious passivity and nothing else. He is paid to do certain things--officiate at burials, weddings, christenings and to pray and preach. Any relaxation of dignity is quickly resented. When he enters, laughter ceases and children crawl under the bed. So true is this that, when an exception is noted, people call your attention to it by saying, Our pastor plays cards and is a jolly good fellow. The exception proves the rule--the priest in his livery rebukes levity and spreads a pretense of solemn piety 41.n Let him mix in politics or business and he is soon called...
