2close2theground Publishing, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.From the Kentucky foothills of the Cumberland Mountains comes the silent voice of a woman of faith and family and a fountain pen: When I am no more visible, and the touch of life is gone. Here in these pages you will find me, where I've spent many hours alone. That may be the best description of the heart and feeling within Zona: Her Collected Works and then some. Born in 1902 in Lee County, Zona Chapman grew up on Bear Creek near Beattyville and Canyon Falls, Kentucky. Here she learned of country ways and, thanks to some Missionary school workers, she also heard the luring call of higher thoughts early in life. That led her to write at an early age-one of the most moving pieces collected here was written when she was only 17-and she continued to write and influence and color her world with words until the day she died. The Samples Boys -the father/son collaborative team that put this together-are but a small part of the family legacy that belongs to Zona. This book is a written part, and a true labor of love; a reflection of the love a family holds for its matriarch (and her love for them), as well as the love and respect shared by a father and son. Throw in a love of poetry and Kentucky philosophers and you get two old guys working together to memorialize the words and wisdom and grace and humor of their mother and grandmother. As Christian Church ministers, both are also a reflection of Zona's spiritual journey, and the hope and faith and values she always tried to instill in...
